WALLACE, H., and LANGRIDGE, W. H. R (Birmingham and Amherst). Differential amphiplasty and the control of ribosomal RNA synthesis . 1

FREEMAN, G. H., and PERKINS, JEAN M. (Wellesbourne and Birmingham). Environmental and genotype-environmental components of variability. VIII. Relations between genotypes grown in different environments and measures of these environments 15

HABGOOD, R. M., and HAYES, J. D. (Aberystwyth). The inheritance of resistance to Rhynchosporium secalis in barley 25

JONES, M. E. (Birmingham). The population genetics of Arabidopsis thaliana. I. The breeding system 39

JONES, M. E. (Birmingham). The population genetics of Arabidopsis thaliana. II. Population structure 51

JONES, M. E. (Birmingham). The population genetics of Arabidopsis thaliana. III. The effect of vernalisation 59

SIMMONDS, N. W. (Pentlandfield). The breeding system of Chenopodium quinoa. I. Male sterility 73

WESTERMAN, M. (Birmingham). The effect of X-irradiation on chiasma frequency in Chorthippus brunneus 83

MURFET, I. C. (Hobart). Flowering in Pisum. A three-gene system . . 93

CROWE, L. K. (Reading). The polygenic control of outbreeding in Borago officinalis 111

KAYANO, HIROSHI (Fukuoka). Accumulation of B chromosomes in the germ line of Locusta migratoria 119

FALK, C. T. (New York). The combined effects of positive assortative mating and selection 125

O'DONALD, PETER (Liverpool). Natural selection for quantitative characters 137

REVIEW:

FRANKEL, O. H., and BENNET, E. (Eds). Genetic resources in plants—their exploration and conservation 155

BOOKS RECEIVED 156

PART 2. OCTOBER

BULMER, M. G. (Oxford). The stability of equilibria under selection . . 157

LINNEY, R., BARNES, B. W., and KEARSEY, M. J. (Birmingham). Variation for metrical characters in Drosophila populations. III. The nature of selection 163

KILLICK, R. J. (Birmingham). Sex-linkage and sex-limitation in quantitative inheritance. I. Random mating populations 175

PAGE

BRAY, R. A. (Queensland). Quantitative evaluation of the circulant partial diallel cross 189

JOHNSON, M. S. (Washington). Adaptive lactate dehydrogenase variation in the crested blenny, Anoplarchus 205

FORD, H. A. (Edinburgh). The degree of mimetic protection gained by new partial mimics 227

HANOVER, J. W. (Michigan). Genetics of terpenes. II. Genetic variances and interrelationships of monoterpene concentrations in Pinus monticola . . 237

PEDERSON, D. G. (Sydney). The estimation of heritability and degree of dominance from a diallel cross 247

HILL, J., and SAMUEL, C. J. A. (Aberystwyth). Measurement and inheritance of environmental response amongst selected material of Lolium perenne . 265

DURRANT, A. (Aberystwyth). Induction and growth of flax genotrophs . 277

NOTES AND COMMENTS:

SNAPE, J. W., and LAWRENCE, M. J. (Birmingham). The breeding system of Arabidopsis thaliana 299

REVIEWS:

Experimental Design: Selected papers of Frank Yates 303
